I am a Business Administration student specializing in Marketing, possessing an integrated understanding of business dynamics that connect marketing, Strategic Planning, strategic decision-making and sales.

I approach marketing as a comprehensive system that influences revenue, positioning, and customer behavior not as a separate activity.

Passionate about continuous learning, and fast learning to explore new ideas for building organized strategies that create real impact on businesses.

I believe that the strength of execution comes from clarity of vision; therefore, I work according to precise professional standards and genuine attention to detail, ensuring that every step serves the larger commercial objective.
